PHILA. MAN PLEADS GUILTY TO DRIVING CAR WHICH KILLED ANDALUSIA YOUTH

DOYLESTOWN, May 24 — Pleading guilty to involuntary manslaughter, but insisting he never knew his car struck a 14-year-old boy, John Black, Jr., 37, of 6809 Ditman street, Tacony, was sentenced by President Judge Hiram H. Keller to serve not less than six months nor more than three years in the county prison. He was fined $5 and directed to pay the costs of prosecution.

Black, who is employed in Bristol as a pipefitter, was arrested after he reported at the Bristol police station and said he believed his car struck and killed Theodore Bannan, 14, on the Bristol Pike, near City Line, December 23, 1950. The accident happened in the evening.

The defendant, who testified he stopped in a taproom on the way home from work that day, denied that he remembers seeing a group of five high school students walking along the Bristol pike.

When he read an account of the hit-and-run accident in which the boy was struck by a car and left lying along the road, he reported to the Bristol Police Department, who turned him over to the State Police at Langhorne.

who investigated the hit-running case, said a shell of a parking light, which was picked up at the scene of the boy-car impact, fitted the defendant's car light perfectly. The FBI also made an analysis of the paint.

TOKYO — An American tank-infantry task force, dashing 13 miles north, crossed parallel 38 in east-central Korea today and another U. S. column recaptured the major mid-Korean hub of Chunchon. The top United Nations field commander declared the second round Communist spring assault has been "severely defeated" and the enemy has "lost his nerve and turned turtle."

BRISTOL LEADING TRACK MEET AT MORRISVILLE WHEN RAIN HALTS CONTESTS; FOUR EVENTS WILL BE RUN OFF AT A LATER DATE

MORRISVILLE, May 24 — Rain prevented the twelfth annual Lower Bucks County Track and Field Meet from being completed here yesterday.

With four events to be run off at a later date, Bristol was leading the meet with 37 points. Morrisville was second with 23 points. Other points were scored as follows: Neshaminy, 17; Delhaas, 11; Pennsbury, 9; Council Rock, 8.

The muddy track as the result of several heavy downfalls prevented the runners from making better time.

Roy Greenlee, Bristol, was a double-winner, taking the mile and 880 yard runs. Greenlee also made a gallant attempt to win the relay as anchor man but the large lead that Pennsbury has amassed was too much to overcome although Greenlee did close up a gap of about 25 yards.

LOYALTY OATH UNCONSTITUTIONAL?

There is a good deal of grim humor in the fact that the Communists, working zealously to undermine the state and national constitutions, always are quick to protest that laws aimed at curbing their activities are "unconstitutional."

So with the debate going on in Pennsylvania on whether the Legislature should pass a law requiring, among other things, that teachers and professors in the public-supported institutions of learning take an oath not to join Communist-front organizations.

The Communist-invented doctrine that such a law is "unconstitutional" has spread rapidly, as an excuse for those who may, for a variety of reasons, hesitate to come right out and admit that such an approach would be a patriotic move in the direction of preserving our state and national governments.

The result is that the word "unconstitutional" is being bandied about by various well-intentioned persons who may or may not be able to make a sound judgment in the matter, and who in any event probably include not a single person who has made any research into the law and the facts.

For example, one of the most active of the opponents of the loyalty oath has referred to the ruling of the courts of California that an oath supplementing that state's general oath of office was unconstitutional — without going into the reason why the California courts so decided, and as though such a ruling in California served as a precedent in Pennsylvania, which of course it doesn't.

Very likely the Pennsylvanian who so confidently asserts that a loyalty-oath law would be unconstitutional in Pennsylvania because another loyalty-oath law, which may or may not be parallel, was found to contravene the state constitution in California, has no awareness of the vast difference between the constitutions of the two states in question.

Whereas the Pennsylvania Constitution is a fairly comprehensive and workmanlike basic charter, that of California is notorious as a legal curiosity—a constitution

URGES 8.5 BILLION AS SHIELD AGAINST COMMUNISM

WASHINGTON — President Truman urged Congress today to provide 8.5 billion dollars in foreign aid to help U. S. allies erect a world-wide defensive shield against "power hungry" Communist aggression. The chief executive warned in a special message that the threat of global atomic conflict "is a very real and terrible danger" and that the U. S. must for its own security save the other free nations from Soviet domination. Mr. Truman declared: "The loss of Europe to the Soviet Union... would compel us to convert the United States into an isolated garrison state. We cannot win peace through appeasement. We cannot gain security in isolation. We will not surrender. We do not and we should not stand alone. We cannot maintain our civilization if the rest of the world is split up, subjugated, and organized against us by the Kremlin." Mr. Truman cited Red threats in such danger zones as Iran and Israel. The President put special emphasis on the explosive situation in Iran, where he cited Kremlin sponsorship of the "rebellious Tudeh party," and of Communist-fomented strife in the Arab states and Israel.

CROYDON MAN IS HURT IN HEAD-ON CRASH OF TRUCKS

George D. McLaughlin, 36, Victim of Accident At Wheatsheaf

TRAILER CATCHES FIRE

Route 13 Blocked for A Time; Vehicles Towed From Scene

WHEATSHEAF, May 24 — A Croydon man was injured, possibly internally, yesterday afternoon, in a head-on crash of two vehicles on Route 13, here. One of the vehicles, a tractor-trailer, burst into flames immediately, and firemen from three companies in lower Bucks County were summoned. Heavy traffic blocked the highway for a time, as the accident occurred at 4.25, with the road-way being filled son after with employees en route to their homes. Fire police and Falls township police assumed duties of directing traffic.

X-rays are to be taken at St. Francis Hospital, Trenton, N. J., where McLaughlin remains as a patient. Bristol Blood Donors removed him to the hospital.

According to Chief of Police of Falls township, Franklin Kirby, McLaughlin, in a pickup truck, put on his brakes when a car ahead of him slowed up. The truck, operated by McLaughlin, and owned by Breslin & Conn, beverage distributors, is said to have gone into a skid in front of a tractor-trailer operated by Stanley Frank Ryba, 22, of Windsor, N. J., owned by Stewart Fagan, of Windsor. The vehicles crashed head-on. The smaller vehicle was travelling west on Route 13, and the other was en route east.

The gas tank on the rear of the tractor ignited, and firemen were summoned to extinguish it. Damage to that vehicle is estimated at $250. The front of the Breslin & Conn truck was pushed in. Although the cab was badly battered by the impact, McLaughlin was able to get out himself. Both vehicles were towed from the scene.

The tractor-trailer was empty at the time.

NEW PUSH—OLD PATTERN

The new enemy push in Korea has so far followed the familiar Chinese communist pattern.
Whether it is an offensive in its own right or—as some dispatches describe it—the second round of the spring offensive, the preparations for it have been standard, and the opening attacks have been made in the standard manner with the standard methods at the standard objectives.

Again, that is to say, the enemy has built up a great weight of manpower. Again his troops, armed chiefly with rifles, automatic weapons and mortars, have surged against South Korean divisions in wave after wave. And again they have achieved initial breakthroughs.

Possibly the communist technique has been improved to some extent. One report mentioned extensive artillery preparation before the attack on a certain sector.
Another said the reds had some 150 mm. artillery, antitank guns, and recoilless rifles. But these departures from the traditional seem to have been on a small scale.

If the Chinese have anything up their sleeves, it has not been exposed at this stage of the new battle. Yet it hardly seems possible that they will merely repeat the April push, which failed at a cost of 75,000 casualties. That doesn't seem to be the road to success.

It may be significant that more than the usual number of Chinese prisoners—though the total is still not large—have been taken during the last few days. But the masses keep coming on, and the question is whether this time the enemy has something besides flesh and blood to throw into the scales.

NEAR EAST HOT SPOT

The Iranian oil dispute continues to sizzle. The London government would like to have Uncle Sam's help in saving their oil concession in that hot spot, or, failing that, to line up guarantees that Britain and Europe will continue to get the Iranian oil which they need to keep their industries going.

If Britain and Europe are deprived of the oil, it will go to Russia. There are fears Moscow has the situation sewed up now.
If Russia gets the oil, the U. S. will be called upon to divert some of its none too ample supplies to Europe. Gasoline rationing in this country could be the result.

London complains that Washington remained silent while the Persians were taking over the field. They point out that the same thing could happen to American oil concessions elsewhere in Asia. It was an ironic twist that the nationalizing British were outraged when they became victims of nationalization elsewhere.
But as a development of the menacing program of Russian pressure it cannot be regarded lightly.

It is up to the British to take the lead in solving their Iranian difficulty. It remains to be seen whether they will be more successful in the Near East than the U. S. has been in the Far East.

of Doylestown. Cooper was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace William Wrigley, at Edison, on May 15 where he was held for court and released under $1,500 bail.

Testimony was offered at the hearing by Chief County Detective Kohler and by Raymond H. Seales, of Parkland, secretary-treasurer of the Middletown road supervisors.

It is alleged that the crimes were committed over a period of the past two years, starting Dec. 19, 1949, and involved $10 fines and one sum amounting to $110 in fine money due the Borough of Penndel. The balance of the $1,580, it is charged, was fine money due Middletown township, Bensalem township, Bristol township, and Langhorne Borough.

The bill of indictment charges that Justice of the Peace Cooper failed to make proper returns of certain fines collected by him, and that he converted to his own use the sum of $1,580 all told, during the past two years.

The Grand Jury true bills were returned yesterday by that body, headed by Frank B. Davenport, Sr., of Fallsington, as foreman.

Gift Distribution Is Feature of A Banquet

The annual mother and daughter banquet, Bristol Presbyterian Church, was held last evening in the social room of the church. A catered dinner was served to 150.
The tables were decorated with floral centerpieces and dolls fashioned from yellow and blue crepe paper. Committee in charge of decorations and entertainment were members of Circles No. 1 and 2 of the Women's Guild.

Mrs. Arthur Zug served as mistress of ceremonies, and Mrs. Christine Swickard asked the blessing. Members of the men's Bible class served the following menu: tomato juice, turkey, filling, mashed potatoes,
gravy, peas, peach and pear salad,

6 Value-Packed Ways to Buy Your Holiday

HAM

The more center meat you get with your ham, the more value you get. That's why A&P's half-hams are worth more than portions. They're full halves obtained by cutting 10- to 14-pound hams in two. No center slices are removed. Portions, on the other hand, are cut from heavier hams, and some of the center meat is removed to be sold as center slices. They're obviously not worth as much as full half-hams. And they're never sold as such at A&P. They're marked with a lower price that makes them excellent values, too. So no matter how you buy your ham at A&P, you're sure to get your money's worth of delicious eating.

Loyalty Oath Unconstitutional?

essentially of basic laws, but sprinkled with special legislation, and amended no fewer than 312 times. As an example of the special legislation and the freak amendments, consider the fact that an amendment to the California constitution passed in 1948 awarded a specific state pension to one particular individual, whose address was included in the amendment to prevent any mistake in identity—and then another amendment to the California constitution was needed before the person in question could be fired!

Under such a type of Constitution, any smart lawyer can find grounds for declaring unconstitutional almost any piece of legislation one can imagine. But the Pennsylvania constitution is by no means a comparable document.

The fact is that the Communists and their friends are either kidding themselves or fooling the public when they attempt to argue that there is something about the constitutional protections regarding freedom of speech and freedom of thought which makes it impossible for the state and national governments to protect themselves and their citizens, and to proceed against the Communists—particularly those entrenched in government jobs.

As all persons know who have kept abreast of the communist maneuvers, the Communist Party has been outlawed in Pennsylvania (Act No. 213, July 28, 1941, P. L. 530) under a general ban on any political party which seeks to control or overthrow the state or national governments by force or violence.

No successful attack has been made against the constitutionality of this law, which, it should be observed, is much farther than a loyalty-oath law would. The latter would result, at most, in the mere dismissal of the individuals affected from their state jobs, whereas the former touches upon and restricts, the most fundamental rights of citizenship.

What is probably not so well known in Pennsylvania that when the Legislature passed the anti-Communist law referred to above, it also passed a companion measure (Act No. 214, July 28, 1941, P. L. 530) which prohibits a state government, or any "county, city, borough, incorporated town, township, school district, vocational school district or institution district, or any authority or institution which is supported in whole or in part out of public funds" from employing in any capacity those who advocate or participate by overt act in un-American or subversive doctrines.

Subject to the right of court appeal, the employee involved is to be dismissed "notwithstanding the fact that such employment may be the result of any contract, agreement, civil service rule or law which provides for tenure in such employment."

The several heads of educational institutions who have taken positions regarding the loyalty oath which represent a temporizing with the pro-Communists might well reflect on the provisions of the law just quoted, which makes it mandatory (not optional) for them to dismiss those who advocate or help Communist activities (and who can the Communist-front groups be excluded?), and authorizes the suspension of the teacher-tenure act for that purpose.

And when they attempt to term unconstitutional that portion of the loyalty oath, as it passed the State Senate, which involves a pledge not to help the Communist-front groups, these educators should stop to reflect that the portion of the loyalty oath does is to insist on a promise to refrain from certain acts already prohibited by the statutes.

As in the case of the first anti-Communist law referred to above, the one providing for the dismissal of those who advocate or share in Communist activities, regardless of their civil service or tenure-act status, has never been successfully attacked on the grounds of constitutionality, although it has been in effect for ten years.

On the contrary, at least one judicial opinion exists which apparently indicates that not only is Act No. 214 constitutional, but that the powers cited in it would exist even if the act had never been passed. This opinion is that rendered by Judge Hirt on October 2, 1941, in the case of Well vs. U. C. Board of Review, 146 Pa., Superior Ct. 7; and contains the following comment:

"In every employment there are implied covenants and conditions in addition to those specifically appearing in the contract. The ordinary virtues of honesty and loyalty are assumed. . . . Similarly, to say that the State must supinely await an overt subversive act before it may discharge a Communist from its employ is to admit that it has none of the attributes of sovereignty."

The argument that the loyalty oath is unconstitutional appears ridiculous in the face of any such statement that just quoted.

Equally ridiculous are some of the other arguments. For instance, some of the opponents to the loyalty oath make much of the assertion that communists and pro-communists will not hesitate to perjure themselves by taking loyalty oaths, without thereby being impeded in their subversive activities. If this be the case, it is odd that the communists have steamed up so much commotion over the loyalty oath as approved by the State Senate!

But this suggested oath goes farther than a mere utterance of general and undefined loyalty—as passed by the State Senate, it calls for a specific pledge, under oath, by employees including teachers, instructors and professors, that they will refrain from joining the numerous and seditious "Communist-front" organizations.

In these, the teaching profession has furnished much of the membership and quite a bit of the leadership—indeed, of course, the fact that the pro-Communists probably are in the very small majority among teachers, leading not to join organizations aimed at the undermining and destruction of their government would, of course, mean no inconvenience or embarrassment to loyal, patriotic teachers—but would put the other kind unmercifully on the spot!

carriage to where Mrs. Edward W. Stiens was seated, the coach overflowing with surprise shower gifts, topped by a baby doll.

The devotional period conducted by Mrs. Adolph Holzworth, included a poem and prayer, this preceding transaction of business. The president, Miss Elma E. Haefner, called on Miss Doan and Miss Grace H. Hlick for secretary's and treasurer's reports, respectively. Mrs. Roger S. Burns, who asked for donations of items that may be sold on June 14th for benefit of the Methodist Home for the Aged, also informed that she, Mrs. Herbert Rongley and Mrs. Cerin had attended the Junior Auxiliary entertainment, May 3rd in First Church, Roxborough. Mrs. Cerin represented the local unit at conference W. S. C. S. sessions, she giving brief account of those meetings. Another report by Mrs. Cerin was that items donated locally to the Deaconess Home benefit this month were valued at $15.80. Mrs. Alfred Woolman told of remembering ill persons with cards.

Announcement was made that Miss Nellie E. Main has been named student secretary, and that introduction cards have been provided five young people from the church who are in the armed forces or studying away from home.

The $10 donation was made to Miss Barbara Hartman, of East Stroudsburg, who this summer will go to Africa to serve as a pharmacist in the mission field. The local unit's budget, as suggested by the conference W. S. C. S. officials, was turned over to the treasurer.

Named as a committee to arrange for the Sunday School picnic lunch on July 28th at Perkaskie are: Mrs. William Gotthardt, Mrs. G. A. Japchen, Miss Adeline E. Reetz, Miss Ruth Shapcott, Mrs. Harry Beck, Mrs. Holzworth, Mrs. Frank Harper.

The birthday anniversary of Mrs. Riley was acknowledged.

The program presented was in the form of a newspaper, "The Neshamony W.S.C.S. Herald." With "Dickie" Gotthardt serving as "newsboy", members "bought" their copies, proceeds to be an initial fund toward work of the Rev. Mathew Ogawa, of Tokyo, Japan, who spoke in the local church last Sunday. The "newspaper" was read in section by various members, first the classified "ads", then the society items, "Winchell" column, coming events, and "page one news." The latter included information on work of Methodist missionaries in several countries. Participants were: Mrs. Bertha Funk, Mrs. John DeBruyn, Mrs. Mark Shapcott, Miss Erda M. Schatt, Mrs. Woodman, Mrs. Rongley, Mrs. Edward Bilger, Mrs. Dassenburg, Miss Main, Mrs. Holzworth, Mrs. Pheneger, Miss Shapcott.

THEIR FIRST HOME

EMPTY, their new apartment looked a bit grim but Nikki and Al Hammel realized it had great possibilities. They wrote a color consultant to get ideas on how to deal with their decorating problems.

RECIPES

Shrimp Creole with Potato Puffs

4 tablespoons butter
1 small onion, chopped
3 stalks celery, cut fine
2 cups cooked raw carrot
2 cups cooked tomatoes
1 bay leaf
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
Few dashes red pepper
1½ teaspoons salt
1 lb. cooked shrimp

Melt butter in sauce pan, add onion and celery, and simmer about 5 minutes. Add carrot, tomatoes, bay leaf, green pepper, red pepper and 1½ teaspoon salt. Simmer uncovered, about 20 minutes or until much of the liquid has evaporated. Clean cooked shrimps and add to creole sauce. Pour into a buttered 2-quart baking dish and top with Potato Puff as follows:
6 potatoes (2 lbs.)
1 teaspoon salt
4 tablespoons butter

¾ cup milk
1 cup grated cheese
Cook peeled potatoes until tender. Drain, mash; add salt, butter and milk; whip until light and fluffy. Add grated cheese. Place potatoes by heaping spoonfuls over shrimp. Brown under the broiler or in a hot oven, 425 degrees F., for about 10 minutes. Serves 6.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

HERE comes the bride with a stack of wedding presents, a new apartment and a hundred questions on the best way to decorate "their" first home.

In this story, the bride is Nikki Hammel—Mrs. Alfred F. Hammel, that is. She arrived at her new apartment in Ossining, N. Y. with books, silver, furniture and accessories—wedding presents which she and Al were anxious to put to the best possible use.

But decorating presented some problems. The living room was L-shaped. How should they carpet it? What about storage space for some of the presents? Then there was the living room window—the top half provided a lovely view; the lower half looked out on a dismal driveway. Could they mask out the bad view and enjoy the good? How should furniture be arranged? What color scheme would be most attractive? What accessories were needed?

These were just a few of the questions and Nikki, realizing they needed a decorating plan and some expert advice, wrote to a well-known color consultant. The bride's SOS was answered with a portfolio containing a plan for furniture arrangement, a color scheme, a sketch of a wall unit, actual samples of drapery and slip-cover fabrics as well as paint.

To carpet the living room, the color consultant recommended narrow tape-seamed carpeting, laid wall-to-wall because in an L-shaped room this narrow carpeting is less expensive than wider broadloom wall-to-wall since so little is wasted in cutting.

The carpet color suggested was bayberry grey because the Hammels' sofa was upholstered in grey brocade. A soft pale grey was recommended HERE'S HOW the Hammel living room in Ossining, N. Y., looks now. Grey carpet, walls and curtains make the room appear larger than it is. A storage unit next to the window provides space for books, silver, linens. Yellow pillows brightly accent the grey of the sofa.

for the walls, too. And for the windows, the decorator advised them to use "cafe" curtains of plain grey silk. In this way they could enjoy the light and view from the top of the window when the upper curtains were pulled aside, and obscure the driveway view at the bottom by keeping the curtains closed. The decorator knew, too, that aside from looking restful and attractive, the grey walls, floor and window curtains would make the room appear larger.

To take care of the storage problem, the Hammels were advised to build a wall unit around the windows and use it for books and silver.

To add a bright note to the setting, slip covers in a bright coral, yellow and green flowered chintz were suggested, plus two bright yellow pillows for the sofa. The Hammels also purchased two handsome white porcelain lamps for their end tables and arranged some attractive prints in a wall grouping around the toll clock over their sofa.

Nikki planned to use pale green and peach chintz draperies in the bedroom, so a peach-colored rug and peach walls were advised for this room. She bought ivy-trimmed porcelain lamps for the night tables and her aunt made a dark green spread with pale green piping for the bed because Nikki couldn't buy a spread long enough for the extra-length bed, which was made especially for Al's six feet three inch height.

The apartment that once presented so many decorating difficulties is now comfortable, attractive and extremely livable, say Nikki and Al.

And here's what it cost them to decorate: living room carpet, $425; lumber for wall unit, $90.34; hardware for wall unit, $32; cafe curtain material, $45.43; curtain fixtures, $9.75; slip cover material for two chairs, $79.95; material for sofa pillows, $11.85; wall paint, $6.32; two living room lamps and shades, $40.72; two bedroom lamps and shades, $23.90; 9' x 12' bedroom rug, $150; bedroom paint, $4.90.

The decorating might have been done for less, but the Hammels told the color consultant they had about $1,000 to spend. If you would like the name and address of this mail-order decorator, send a self-addressed stamped envelope to me in care of this paper.

of such a life. Third, the most reliable information is that Mrs. Truman and his daughter definitely want him not to run again.

Fourth, there is the recently adopted amendment to the Constitution fixing two terms as the limit for a President. True, Mr. Truman is exempted from this restriction and there is no legal reason he should not make a third-term attempt. But in addition to having been proposed by more than three fourths of Congress, the amendment was ratified by more than three fourths of the states. Thus it is impossible not to regard it as a reflection of the sentiment of the people and the moral reason for complying is clear. Fifth and final reason is the extremely dubious prospect that he could be re-elected. Today the odds are much heavier against him than in 1948. His administration has developed scandals that touch the inner White House circle. Various unsavory characters among those personally and politically close to him have been revealed. His popularity is at its lowest ebb. There are many indications that more people are more fed up with the "Welfare State" than ever before.

Add all this up and one can understand why the belief is so strong that Mr. Truman is through. If this view is sound, the question then arises: how much influence would he have after he announces he is out. The best opinion is not enough to dictate the convention nominees. As stated, he could, of course, renounce himself, but once he publicly abandons that idea neither the Democratic members of Congress, the members of the national committees, governors, state and city bosses nor the jobholders would have any reason to look to him for favors. He would have none to distribute.

An interesting suggestion of one thing he might do has been made. He could withhold any statement until the convention meets. In the meantime, he could permit various states to pledge their delegations to him on the theory that he would accept a "draft." Then he could dramatically appear before the convention, announce his withdrawal and (the military situation permitting) appeal to the convention to draft General Eisenhower, "that great American," for whom his admiration is very real. What would happen then? Well, regardless of the fact that he is not a Democrat, desperately anxious to win, the Democrats certainly would nominate him—and unanimously. One hardly can doubt that. They wouldn't stop to ask about his views. They couldn't need a platform. This idea may seem fantastic but it is a possibility—and the possibility changes the situation.

One experienced and astute Republican expressed it this way: "Why," he said, "that makes Eisenhower's nomination by us inevitable. The possibility amounts to coercion. We just couldn't take the risk. Look at the facts—our convention must be held first. Our date is already fixed. If we fail to 'draft' the General and Mr. Truman and the Democrats do draft him, why we are down the drain again. No one we name would stand a chance. We can beat Truman this time. We can beat anyone else they have to offer. But we can't beat Eisenhower. It makes no difference what he stands for or whom we put up. If that possibility exists—and it does—we have got to nominate him."

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

What Mr. Truman May Do

Washington, May 24. Concerning the Democratic presidential nomination, nothing definite can be said until Mr. Truman abandons his cryptic attitude and clearly answers the questions as to whether or not he will be a candidate to succeed himself. The oft-proven fact that even the feeblest White House incumbent has the power to renounce himself make it impossible to count this one out until he says the word.

However, there is not a great deal of mystery about it. It is certainly true the millions of Federal jobholders are strongly for Mr.

Truman, his continuance in office being the best way to insure their continuance. But the judgment of almost all his intimate friends is that he has made up his mind not to run. Nearly all of these agree that this is a wise decision. So do most of the more clear-headed Democratic politicians in and out of Congress. For this conviction there are several seemingly sound reasons. One, of course, is his age. Though younger than General MacArthur, it is doubtful that Mr. Truman is in as good physical condition. If renominated he would be close to 68 before he could begin his third term, almost 72 before it ended. Most persons would say that is too old. Second, there is the fact that since his triumphant election in 1948, Mr. Truman has had three terrifically tough years. His troubles have multiplied; his burdens have increased; almost nothing has gone well with him. It is not easy to believe that a man of his age would want four more years him."

DELHAAS WINS JUNIOR MEET DESPITE RAIN

MORRISVILLE, May 24—Delhaas Junior High won the fourth annual Lower Bucks Junior High Meet, here, yesterday afternoon.

All the events were completed despite the heavy rainfall which made the track very muddy and held down the time of the runners.

Final point standing was as follows: Delhaas, 42½; Neshaminy, 36½; Pennsbury, 33½; Bristol, 31 1-12; Morrisville, 29½; Council Rock, 9½.

Lon Whitfield, star Pennsbury trackman, broke the pole vaulting record by going over at 8 feet, six inches. The old mark was set by Gleason, of Bristol Township, last season when he went over a 7' 10".

Whitfield also tied the old mark in the high jump by leaping over the bar at 5' 1" which was the same height made by Julian, of Langhorne, in 1948.

Roger Hoog, of Neshaminy, set a new mark in the 110 low hurdles by making it in 14.5, eclipsing a tenth of a second from the mark of Brodie, also of Neshaminy, set in 1950.

In the junior high events, there was a triple winner in Larry Cohen, of Bristol Junior High. Cohen won the 75 and 100 yard dashes and also the shot put, accounting for 15 Bristol points.

Presents Case For Nat'l Health Insurance

LANGHORNE, May 24—Repudiating the tag-line, "socialized medicine," as smear-propaganda, Dr. Johannes U. Hoerber, area director of the Philadelphia Health and Welfare Council, presented "The Case for National Health Insurance" at the dinner meeting of the Bucks County Lincoln Highway Kiwanis Club at Langhorne Legion Country Club on Tuesday evening, with club president Joseph S. Law presiding.

Widely known as an authority on health economics, although not a physician, Dr. Hoerber clarified the terms of the proposed legislation as being "a logical extension of the principle of voluntary health plans." He deplored the use of such terms as "regimentation of doctors," and "excessive red tape," applied as arguments against national health insurance, displaying samples of reports now required of physicians by governmental relief units and by the voluntary plans, the government reports allegedly being much shorter and less complicated than those praised by organized medical groups. Dr. Hoerber pointed out that many prevented measures could be taken by physicians for individual patients were the "dollar sign" removed as a bar on the highway to health for all Americans.

The speaker was introduced by John A. Crowley, of Penned, Kiwanis Club public affairs chairman, who related as a personal experience his efforts to organize a pioneer voluntary health plan in Philadelphia in 1935 over the opposition of medical groups whose slogan then was "Sickness insurance cannot distribute the burden of sickness unless it is compulsory." Dr. Hoerber pointed out that the same medical groups are now united against compulsory insurance in a last-ditch stand, their opposition to voluntary plans having resulted in defeat and complete reversal of their position of 16 years ago.

Next Tuesday's speaker will be Albert Kubel, of the Kensington school, on the topic "Responsibility of Parent to Child."

FINAL SOFTBALL GAME

The final game of the Youth Week Softball tournament (boys' division) will be played this evening on the high school field. The contesting teams are fourth ward and fifth ward. Fourth ward entered the finals Tuesday evening by beating Fifth ward, 9-8.

BUCKS COUPLE PLANS TO HUNT IN AFRICA*Nashes, of Penns Park, Hope To Bag 'Rhinos,' Elephants, Etc.*TO FLY ON JUNE 20TH

PENNS PARK, May 24 — A local couple, preparing for the biggest adventure of their lives, will spend the next 18 months in Africa. The story of the plans of the two, Mr. and Mrs. James Harley Nash, is told in a recent issue of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

The story as recounted by R. C. Lowry, Jr., follows:

"We're going after everything," said Nash, leaning back in an overstuffed chair in the living room of their remodeled farmhouse. "Elephants, lions, rhinos, cape buffalo, antelope — everything."

Both Nash and his wife, Madeline, are commercial artists. They have studios in New York, N. Y., and specialize in package designing.

Their 79-acre farm, "Sweetbriar", is located half way between Philadelphia and New Hope on route 232. Its gently rolling meadows are used for pasture and exercise space for their first love—horses.

For the last 14 years, the Nashes have been breeding and training horses for show and hunting. Nash is vice-president and a director of the Huntingdon Valley Hunt Club.

"Friends at the club," Nash explained, "first interested us in big game hunting several years ago, and invited us on a trip to Montana."

"I was the only one of the party to bag anything," he chuckled. "I got a good-sized mule deer. If it hadn't been for me, the beginner, they'd have had to eat crackers and milk."

Big game fans ever since, the couple are now veterans of many trips to Wyoming and Montana for elk, mule, deer, and antelopes.

"On a trip to Montana in the fall of 1949," said Mrs. Nash—"Bill" her friends call her, "we met a man who has just returned from an expedition to Africa. We became so enthused, we haven't thought of much else since."

"During the last year and a half," said her husband, "I've read every book, and attended every lecture and movie on the subject that I could." He pointed to a fat volume on the table by his elbow entitled "African Game Trails," by Theodore Roosevelt.

On June 20, the Nashes will board a British Overseas Airline. They will spend two days in London and two days in Rome. Then they will hop to Nairobi, Kenya.

At Nairobi they will form their safari, consisting of two hunters and 16 natives. Using a large truck and two smaller ton-and-a-half station wagons, they expect to cover a distance of 3,000 miles during July and August in the territories of Kenya and Tanganyika.

The main reason for their year-and-a-half wait for the expedition to get the services of Sidney Downey, one of Africa's top-notch hunters, Downey guided the Hollywood safari which filmed "King Solomon's Mines."

"If we talk like old veterans of an African trip," Mrs. Nash said, "it's because we've formed a complete new circle of friends since we first expressed interest in going, and everyone who has been there has had some special point of advice."

The couple already have shipped their equipment. They were advised to get everything on its way at least four months before their departure.

They are taking eight rifles, large and small caliber and about 2,000 rounds of five different types of ammunition.

Their largest gun is a 470 double-barreled elephant gun, made only in England. It weighs over 11 pounds and has a shell five inches long and a half inch in diameter. Its shell is supposed to at least knock an elephant out for ten minutes if it misses a vital spot.

After completing their safari, the Nashes will fly the rest of the way around the world, stopping in Egypt, India, Japan and Hawaii.

Mrs. Nash says the only animal that frightens me to think about is the rhino.

"They're so ugly," she remarked, but added:

"But we're going after them and we're going to get one."
